RESTITUTION

Indiana ordered 4 defendants to pay restitution in 2018, ranking it 8th in the nation for restitution orders.

4 defendants ordered to pay restitution out of 14 convicted defendants.*

PERCENTAGE OF CONVICTED DEFENDANTS ORDERED TO PAY RESTITUTION

*2 of the convicted defendants were in cases where the government did not name a trafficking victim in the charging instrument. These convictions have been excluded for purposes of restitution calculations, as it is uncommon for federal courts to order restitution in a case where the government does not identify a trafficking victim (e.g., sting operation cases).

NEW CRIMINAL LABOR TRAFFICKING CASES

Indiana was 1 out of 49 states and territories that failed to initiate a criminal labor trafficking prosecution in 2018.

Nationally, the most common type of exploited labor in labor trafficking cases active in 2018 was domestic work. Over half of the active labor trafficking cases involved a defendant using threats of deportation to coerce labor or services.

LIMITATIONS: The Report's findings are not a prevalence estimate of human trafficking in the United States but instead serve as an objective summary of what the federal system has done to address trafficking. The Report does not capture data from state prosecutions, state civil suits, or unreported human trafficking cases.

The HUMAN TRAFFICKING INSTITUTE

THE HUMAN TRAFFICKING INSTITUTE exists to decimate modern slavery at its source by empowering police and prosecutors to stop traffickers. Working inside criminal justice systems, the Institute provides the embedded experts, world-class training, investigative resources, and evidence-based research necessary to free victims.
