UNITED STATES V. TORIANO DAVIS

In the Eastern District of Michigan, officers from the Southeast Michigan Trafficking and Exploitation Crimes (SEMTEC) Task Force responded to a referral from family and child protective services of a missing minor with the suspicion that the minor may be a victim of sex trafficking. Officers used contact information provided in an online advertisement that they found featuring the missing minors' photos, and staged an undercover sting. They posed as potential buyers and arranged to meet at a local hotel. When the undercover officers arrived, they were able to locate the reported missing minor victims, along with two other minor victims who the Defendant was trafficking.

METHODOLOGY: The 2021 Federal Human Trafficking Report includes every federal human trafficking prosecution filed within the year involving a crime within Chapter 77 of the U.S. Code, as well as human trafficking cases charged or resolved outside of Chapter 77 if there was substantial evidence of compelled or coerced labor, services, or commercial sex. HTI compiled this Report through a comprehensive examination of public court documents in federal human trafficking cases, as well as a detailed review of news stories and government press releases. Data within the State Reports are consistent with the 2021 Report's methodology.

SCOPE: The Report's findings are not a prevalence estimate of human trafficking in the United States, but instead serve as an objective summary of the federal response to combat human trafficking. The Report does not capture data from state prosecutions, state civil suits, or unreported human trafficking cases.
